

LATIN AMERICA &
THE GALÁPAGOS

CLIFFS PRESERVE
Patagonia, Chile

The Cliffs Preserve is an eco-luxury resort and private preserve in the Chilean Patagonia. Located in the heart of Chile's Lakes Region, the resort has more than 8,000 acres of temperate rainforest and six miles of Pacific coast. Facilities include 18 suites distributed in six residences of 4,800-square-foot each and a 17,500-square-foot lodge, where you can enjoy the spa, pool, restaurant, bars, boutique, fitness room and conference room. The Cliffs Preserve has its own organic farm that provides healthy and fresh vegetables; a marina equipped with boats and kayaks; stables with Chilean horses and saddles; and trails with different alternatives for hiking and horseback riding. The Cliffs Preserve offers a combination of facilities that blend naturally with the environment and amenities that deliver each guest heart-warming hospitality and a complete sense of wellness. The resort's goal is to bring guests and families closer to nature while they experience a life-impacting journey.